Adelaine Construction Chosen as LTAHB Builder Of The Year!

Little Traverse Association of Home Builders (LTAHB) is excited to announce that Adelaine Construction Inc. in Harbor Springs has been chosen as their 2007 "Builder of the Year."

Adelaine Construction's tag line says it all: "A locally owned family business providing excellence in building for over 30 years." Steve Adelaine, Sr. and son Steven Adelaine, current president, started building together over 40 years ago, and now two of Steven's children, Melissa and Noah, are taking the business into the third generation of leadership. The Adelaine Team builds custom homes, addition/remodels, log, light commercial and Wausau homes. In 2006, they built a model home and design center as their office located on Commerce Court (off of West Conway) in Harbor Springs to allow their customers a "one-stop shop" approach to selecting features for their projects. The Adelaines' expertise covers all facets of building and is showcased in their numerous completed projects throughout the surrounding communities. The Builders Journal Magazine recognized Adelaine Team as their inside cover story with a four-page feature spread in October 2006. Adelaine Construction has been a member of LTAHB for many years and is participating in its Parade of Homes this July.

Combining Steve Sr.'s old-world craftsman techniques with Steven's superior attention to detail and Melissa and Noah's drive for fine quality and technologically advanced efficiency provides this family with a well-rounded and exceptional team to build your new project.
